I worry that my treatment might change things between us.

Having treatment for a health condition can lead to changes in your relationship. If you'd like to understand how things may change between you and your partner, we can help.

Simply call 0300 100 1234 or go online to find your local Centre.